ROUND & ABOUT Magazine

Introduction

What is Round & About Magazine?

Round & About Magazine is the largest circulating free regional magazine in southern England, covering six counties and reaching over 632,321 homes every month via Royal Mail. Established in 1994 by Peter Savage, the magazine was built on the vision of creating a truly community-focused publication. Now led by his son, Chris Savage, it has expanded to 33 unique editions and continues to be a trusted platform for local events, businesses, and organisations.

As the brand grows, so does our reach – beyond print, our digital platforms ensure even greater engagement and advertising opportunities.

WHY PRINT WORKS

- Trusted & Tangible – Readers spend time with a physical magazine, making ads more memorable.
- Unrivalled Distribution – Delivered to over 630,000 homes every month, with no paywall or online competition.
- Local & Targeted – Reach communities that matter to your business.
- Long Shelf Life – Readers return to their copy multiple times, giving your ad extended exposure.

From full-page impact to cost-effective quarter-page ads, we offer flexible options to suit all budgets and objectives.

Record Mail Engagement:

A Game-Changer for Round & About Magazine Advertisers

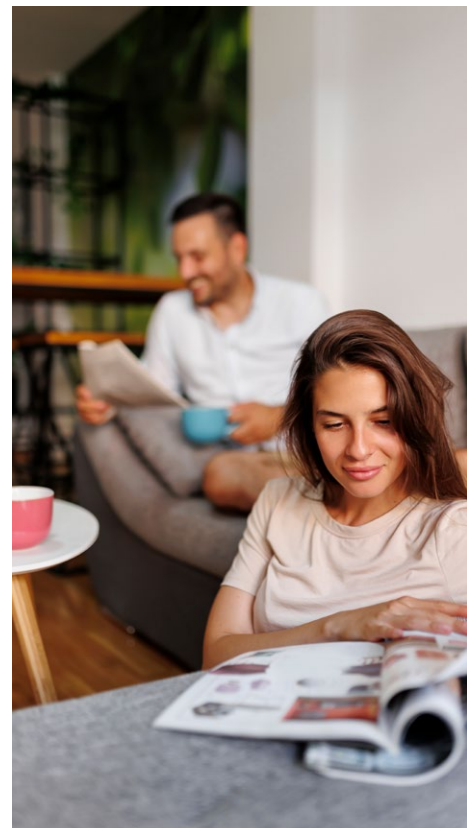

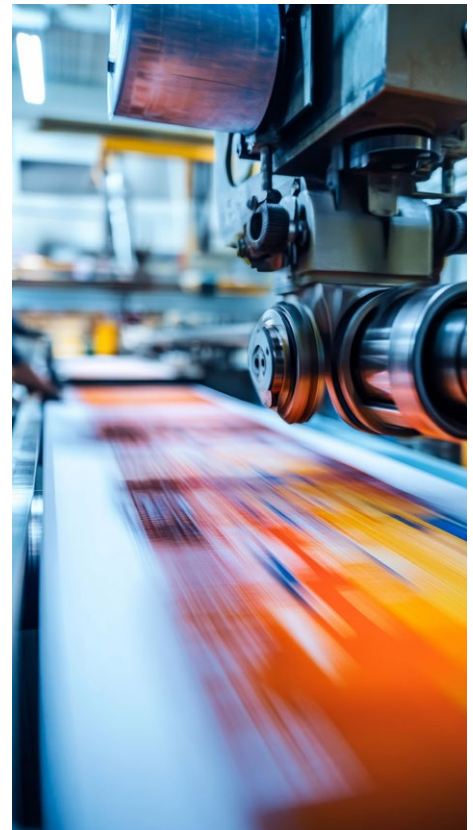

In an era where digital marketing often dominates, a surprising trend has emerged—direct mail is making a remarkable comeback. According to the latest JICMail report, mail read rates have hit an all-time high, with 77% of mail being read or looked at during Q4 2024. This surge highlights the enduring power of print marketing. Consumers are engaging with mail more than ever, with business mail alone being interacted with nearly 5 times on average in just 28 days. Notably, loyalty reward statements and promotional offers via direct mail are driving significant responses, from purchases to website visits.

Why This Matters for Round & About Magazine Advertisers

As a Royal Mail delivered print magazine, for advertisers, this surge in mail read rates offers an exciting opportunity to enhance your marketing efforts. With 77% of mail being read or looked at in Q4 2024, direct mail is proving to be an incredibly effective way to reach local audiences and drive engagement. As businesses continue to seek innovative ways to cut through the noise of digital ads, direct mail stands out as a reliable, high-impact channel. By integrating direct mail into your marketing strategy, Round & About Magazine's advertisers can tap into a proven method for increasing local visibility, generating leads, and boosting sales. Whether you're promoting an event, offering a special deal, or building brand awareness, the tangible nature of print offers a personal touch that digital simply can't replicate.

Now is the perfect time to complement your digital presence with a well-crafted print advertising campaign that resonates with your community—creating meaningful connections that last.

Let's embrace the power of print — both digital and traditional marketing can coexist to create lasting impressions!

Testimonials 2026

Thank you to Round and About for featuring Freedom Through Expression Art Gallery in Alton; we were delighted with the number of new visitors that came through the doors on the back of reading the article.

*Glynis, Freedom Through Expression Art Gallery in Alton

The team at Round & About have been incredibly supportive of me during my first six months in Education marketing. With a professional and friendly disposition, they have proactively advised on advertising within relevant local supplements and issues to coincide with our School's Open Events. My account manager Luke has taken the time to understand our needs and we were delighted when he asked us to contribute to a recent editorial piece.

The circulation of Round & About Magazine is extensive and the media pack is clear with key information by area. We are very happy to be an advertising partner as R&A complements Eggar's School perfectly with its community focus.

*Kate Milne Majid, Marketing, Eggar's School, Alton

'I'm glad to say that advertising in Round & About Magazine allows my company to target homes in my local postcode area to let readers know I'm here, what services I offer and to attract new potential business.'

Targeted Supplements

Seasonal focuses on the sectors that matter most.

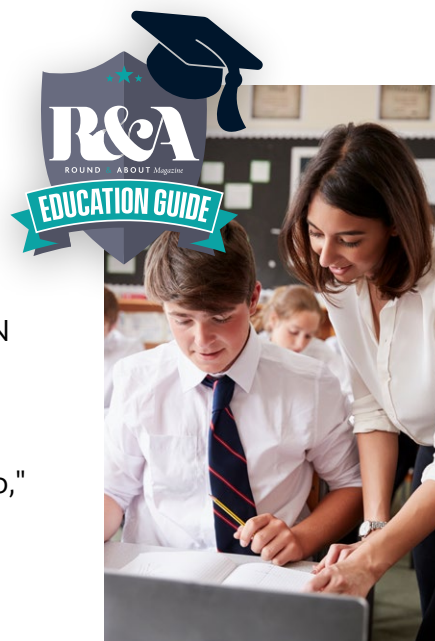

EDUCATION & SCHOOLS SUPPLEMENT

Published every January and September

Align your institution with excellence in our bi-annual Education Supplement. Each edition features bespoke, high-quality editorial exploring the topics that matter most to parents, from navigating SEN support and the latest educational technology to selecting the right academic path for their child's future.

Beyond traditional print, your school is featured on our "localised map," ensuring parents can find you at a glance. You also gain a presence on our interactive digital map, allowing you to showcase your school's video directly to our engaged readership.

Whether you are recruiting for the new academic year or the January intake, this feature provides a high-authority environment to reach families in the heart of their homes.

ADULT HEALTH & SOCIAL CARE SUPPLEMENT

Published every February

Position your services within our highly anticipated annual Care Supplement. Each edition features bespoke editorial dedicated to the health and well-being of our older readers, from exploring the benefits of an active lifestyle and outdoor enrichment to navigating the various pathways of later-life support.

Whether you specialize in residential care, domiciliary services, or live-in support, this feature provides a trusted, high-authority environment to showcase your expertise. By advertising alongside our expert-led content, you can connect directly with families and individuals actively seeking care resources and lifestyle guidance, helping you grow your reach within the heart of the community.
